Forecast for Friday 20 Aug 2021

Weather: Most of the day will be dry, however outbreaks of rain will reach Skye and Lochaber by early evening and extend northeast to most remaining areas through the evening. A lot of cloud is expected through the day although some brighter breaks occurring from time to time in the south of the area.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: 70%

Visibility: Poor in low cloud down to 600 metres across Caithness, Sutherland away from the west coast, and down into Easter Ross. This is likely to linger all day. Elsewhere, along the west coast and Lochaber less in the way of low cloud but some patches still covering the higher summits.
